

WHO I AM

Alesha Magee

Title: Room Scheduling Program Coordinator
Hired: 2011

“At FP&M, there is a sense of support and community. It is a place where I can take initiative and grow professionally as well as personally.”

WHY FP&M

My job at FP&M is a giant puzzle. With increased enrollment and a fixed number of General University Classrooms, it is a daily intellectual challenge to meet the needs of multiple customers. As a person who enjoys seeking innovative and efficient solutions this aspect of my job is quite enjoyable. One of my favorite things about my job is that no two days are alike. Whereas the duties and processes I do are similar the situations are unique.

FP&M TODAY

With FP&M you can expect a flexible and supportive work environment that values your individual growth. FP&M is committed to the betterment of the university and the excellence of its employees. They support you in advancing your skills and celebrating your accomplishments. There is also a community here that fosters relationships among the staff. I have developed close relationships with my colleagues across departments within FP&M.
