Classroom Facilities

- 110 Classroom (CLASS)
Any general purpose instructional room designed primarily for lecture, lecture-demonstration, recitation or seminar type class. If a room is subject to regular assignment by Facilities Planning and Management, it is considered a general classroom. These rooms are to be charged to Iowa State University General Instruction instead of a department.
- 115 Classroom Service (CL SER)
A room which directly serves a classroom as an extension of the activities in such a room. Included in this category are projection rooms, cloakrooms, preparation rooms, and closets and storage, if associated with a classroom.
- 354 Seminar Room (SEM RM)
These rooms are normally equipped with tables and chairs and are used for small organized classes usually on the senior and graduate level. These rooms may have reference materials for specific areas of study housed within the room. This classification differs from a conference room in that conference rooms are not usually used for organized classes. They also differ from a table and chair classroom, in that they usually are restricted to a specific department's class use.
- 355 Seminar Room Service (SEM SR)
A room that directly serves one or more seminar rooms as an extension of the activities in that room. Includes kitchenettes, storage rooms, telecomm control booths, projection rooms and sound equipment rooms if they serve seminar rooms.

Laboratory Facilities

Requires special purpose equipment, and is not used for formal classes. Does not include testing and monitoring facilities (e.g. seed sampling, water or environmental testing rooms) that are a part of the institution's Central Service system.

Special note should be taken of rooms equipped both as office and "research laboratory".

A room equipped with laboratory benches, specialized scientific equipment or such utilities as gas, water, steam, air, etc., is classified as a research laboratory (250). Note that this distinction rests on equipment rather than function. It is recommended that those rooms that have office-type equipment and fixed laboratory-type equipment (primarily in the biological and physical sciences) within the same room be classified as research laboratories (250).

255 Research Laboratory Service (RES LS)

Related service rooms for a research laboratory, including darkrooms, controlled-environment storage rooms, sterilizer rooms, supply and equipment issue rooms, etc. Rooms that provide housing for laboratory animals are classified as animal quarters (570). Greenhouses are separately categorized (580).

210 Teaching Laboratory (T LAB)

A room used primarily for formally or regularly scheduled classes that require special-purpose equipment for student participation, experimentation, observation or practice in a field of study. Examples could include wet or dry laboratories, computer laboratories, drafting rooms, art and music studios, and language labs. The design of, and/or, equipment in such a room normally precludes its use for other areas of study. This category does not include special purpose rooms used by ROTC units, such as drill areas and rifle ranges. It does not include special purpose rooms used by Physical Education, such as gymnasiums, handball courts, indoor track and swimming pools.

215 Teaching Laboratory Service (T L SR)

Storage related to other types of space follows the classification of that type of space with a "service" designation. For example, a storage closet for office supplies is classified as office service (315). The distinction between the "service" and "storage" classification rests on the possibility of physical separation of the materials stored. If the materials being stored could be placed in a warehouse, implying only occasional demand for the materials being stored, then central storage facility is the appropriate classification. Storage that must be close at hand because of the nature of the materials stored and the demands placed upon them by the program should be classified in the appropriate "service" category.
