Join at 11:30 AM to be videoed dancing the line dance with friends and the Iowa State Community. We will do three dance takes to get everyone involved part of the video and allow time for practice.

Events happening that day are:

Tabling on recycling and Waste Minimization and Diversion starting at 10:00 AM. Visit to play "What Recycles?" Get connected with the new Iowa State Recycling Services Coordinator, Steve Kohtz. While visiting record your move "Bossing Your Toss." Steve will be editing a grunge video of ISU communities showing their best Boss Your Toss move. This video will be playing as an advertisement across campus on informational screens in the buildings across campus.

At 11:30 the Recycling Shuffle will take place on South Parks Library Lawn. This will be a video recording that has students, faculty and staff line dancing. It will be put on social media to show a fun time had by Iowa State to honor America Recycles Day.

The rest of the afternoon will continue with tabling as mentioned above.

BOSS YOUR TOSS is the recycling campaign for ISU recycling services educating Students, faculty and staff on recycling through the Iowa State Single Stream and what that means in Ames community.
